Raena Loft Crowned International Junior Ms. 2025-2026

Raena Loft of Queensland, Australia, has been crowned the International Junior Miss (IJM) Ms. International Queen, earning one of the most prestigious titles within the global IJM organization. Representing her home state of Queensland, Raena brings elegance, strength, and heartfelt purpose to her role as an international titleholder.

Raena works as a flight attendant and cabin manager in Australia, combining her love for travel with a passion for hospitality and leadership. She holds a Diploma in Business and Fashion Marketing, reflecting her interest in both professional communication and the fashion-forward qualities cherished in the IJM community.

Raena's platform centers on Endometriosis Awareness, a deeply personal and powerful initiative inspired by her own experience living with the condition. Through sharing her journey, she hopes to help women and girls understand that they are not alone, encourage early awareness and advocacy, and support those navigating the challenges of endometriosis. She plans to use social media, public appearances, and her recovery gift bag donations to reach, educate, and uplift others worldwide.

As a titleholder, Raena's goal is to grow IJM's visibility across social media - especially through YouTube - by documenting her year, sharing the reality of being an international queen, and showing how she balances her platform with her career and global travel. She also plans to represent IJM internationally, amplifying her work in women's health awareness and showing the world the empowerment IJM provides.

Raena chose International Junior Miss because she fell in love with the system when she first competed in 2018. The professionalism of the organization, the strong connections she made both before and during internationals, and the life-changing opportunities that followed inspired her to return once the Ms. division was introduced. When the opportunity came, she knew she had to pursue the IJM dream again.

Her advice to future contestants: Take every opportunity to grow. Whether it's your first pageant or your hundredth, IJM offers an inclusive, supportive environment that encourages every woman to challenge herself, build confidence, and embrace her full potential.
